

The Cries of London

Orlando Gibbons

Ha' ye

a - ny old bellows or trays to mend?

O yes! If a - ny man or wo-man can tell a - ny tidings of a grey mare with a long mane and a short tail; she halts down right be - fore, and is stark lame be - hind; and was lost the thirtieth day of Februa - ry. He that can tell a - ny tid - ings of her, let him come to the Crier, and he shall have well for his hire.

100

Or a po - king stick with a sil-ver handle.

109

120

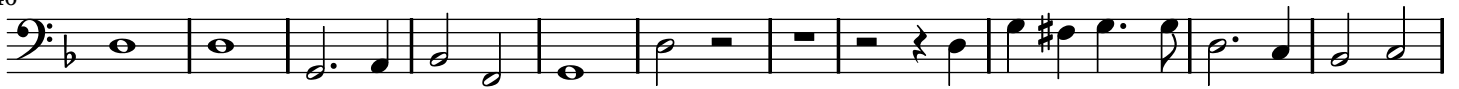

128

137

146

And so we make an end, and so we 157

make an end.

169

178

Ha'ny work for a tin - ker? a tin -

188

ker. Old boots, old shoes, pouchrings for broom,

199

What co - ney-skins have ye,

208

maids? Salt, salt, to barge to. Will you buy a-ny a-qua-vi - tae, mis-tress?

218

227

Have ye a - ny wood to cleave?

237

247

256

And so good night.